Sydney Ports calls for membership of Community Liaison Group at Glebe Island/White Bay

Sydney Ports has today called for applications from local community members to be part of a Community Liaison Group for the ports at Glebe Island/White Bay.

Advertisements have been placed in local papers, and to apply those interested can obtain an information package and application form from Sydney Ports Corporation.

“Sydney Ports wants to work together with the neighbours of the ports at White Bay and Glebe Island to facilitate effective communication about the port. Businesses operating at the ports have also been invited to participate in this group,” said Greg Martin Chief Executive Officer of Sydney Ports Corporation.

“With the formation of this group, the local community will have the opportunity to be informed about port activities and Sydney Ports Corporation, together with business operators will work with the group to communicate on matters relating to operations at the port.

“Interested residents from the area surrounding the port are encouraged to nominate for membership of this group. Individuals who have existing links within the local community are especially encouraged to nominate” said Mr Martin.

The Community Liaison will be made up of six representatives from the community, one council representative, representatives from businesses operating at the port and Sydney Ports Corporation nominees.
